The Fish Store was founded in 1938 by two brothers, John and George Pappas. The store quickly became a popular destination for Seattleites, who flocked to the market for its fresh seafood and friendly service. In 1954, the brothers opened a restaurant next door to the market, which quickly became just as popular as the market itself.

The Fish Store has been featured in numerous publications, including The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, and The Seattle Times. The store has also been the recipient of several awards, including the James Beard Award for Best Seafood Restaurant in America.

The Fish Store: Recipes and Recollections is a must-have for any seafood lover. The book is filled with delicious recipes, as well as fascinating stories and photos from the store's history.
